

The Dominican Genius: Integrity and Balance

Five Webinars Presented by Carla Mae Streeter, OP

February 16, 23, 24; March 1, 2, 2016

6:30 - 8:00 p.m. CST

Free-will Donation: <http://tinyurl.com/gsw8x6r>

- or mail your check to -

Heartland Center for Spirituality

3600 Broadway

Great Bend, KS 67530

(mention "Carla Mae" in your check comments)

Registration open until March 2, 2016

<http://shalomplace.com/inetmin/webinars/op800.html>

The Dominican Order is celebrating its 800th Anniversary. How does this Order do "theology" to give it staying power? How does it do "spirituality?" How has it stayed faithful to the truths of faith in all the cultural storms of these centuries? Listen in and discover a little of the Dominican genius...you might find it's just what you need to do your own balancing act in our own day.

Each webinar will include approximately one hour of presentation, then 30 minutes for questions, comments and interaction with Sr. Carla Mae. Archives of these webinars will be posted at <http://heartlandspirituality.teachable.com> within a week after the session.

Carla Mae Streeter, OP, is a Dominican of the Congregation of Catherine of Siena in Racine, Wisconsin. She is presently a professor (emerita) of Systematic theology and Spirituality at Aquinas Institute of Theology, a graduate school of Theology and Ministry sponsored by the Dominicans of the Central Province adjoined to St. Louis University in St. Louis.

Using the resources of the Lonergan Research Institute in Toronto, Canada, she completed doctoral studies with the Canadian Jesuits at Regis College of the Toronto School of Theology in Toronto in 1986. She was co-recipient of the first Jean-Marc Laporte Scholarship Award for academic excellence, and the first woman to complete a theological doctorate at Regis College. Her specialty is the thought of the Canadian Aquinas scholar, Bernard Lonergan, as that thought provides a framework for the dialogue of theology with other disciplines, and with other religious traditions.

Her experience includes eleven years of lay leadership training on the parish level, spiritual direction, and social advocacy. Carla Mae has been active as a facilitator for several religious congregations, and has served her own community in the renewal of its own constitution and in its theological renewal. She lives in St. Louis where she is active in Interfaith Partnership of Metropolitan St. Louis and other ecumenical and interfaith efforts. Carla Mae serves on the boards of ITEST, the Institute for the Theological Encounter with Science and Technology, and the Workers Right Board of Jobs with Justice. She is active with the Living Insights Center, a gathering place for the religions of the world, and the Peace Economy Project, an advocacy group that urges the economic shift from excessive military spending to human and social needs.