Long, one-page scrolling websites are a great way to create a simple website that contains a moderate amount of content. You can create this type of webpage using InDesign and in5 in this course, you'll learn how to set up your InDesign file properly to create both desktop and mobile versions of a website, how to use Adobe fonts for the site, how to add some typical page elements like menus, parallax images, fixed position elements, autoplay video, slide shows and animation, and how to output and preview the page with in5. Are you ready? Let's get started.