

Now let's take a look at our triad islands in the key of A major. Notice how everything is exactly the same as it was when we were playing E major, but it's just moved to a different section of the fretboard.

