

This design is for tutorial purposes only.

This is an illustrative design. All proposed structures such as driveways, patios, decks retaining walls, pools and any attached or free standing structures as well as any changes in elevation are to be approved by the applicable regulatory body prior to construction. The Designer assumes no responsibility for the placement of any structure as detailed in this design. It is the responsibility of the homeowner and/or hired contractor to follow specification standards and building codes and to obtain all approvals and permits prior to construction. Revisions to the plan can be requested but are subject to consultation and design fees.
