

JOB SEARCH INTRODUCTION EXERCISE

Come up with a clear and specific job search introduction to say to people in your professional network to enlist their help in finding your dream job. Include details about what you want such as position, company size, industry, location, values, and particular companies.

Here's an example job search introduction:

I want to be in a global account manager role. Ideally, the position would be at a large tech company in the Bay Area that has opportunities for employees to give back. Some of my dream companies are Salesforce, Cisco, and Intuit.
