

VOYAGE AUX USA

Forming French Sentences - Beginner to Advanced

After watching the video and taking notes, translate the following:

It is almost summer, and we're going to go to vacation.

We are going to go to the United States.

I speak a little English, and my husband speaks it fluently.

Our children have been studying it at school for 3 years.

First of all, we need to find cheap flights.

I am going to look online.

There are sites where one can find good deals.

Last year I found some for our trip to Canada.

After watching the video and taking notes, translate the following:

We had a good time in Montreal.

But we spoke French all the time.

I want to try to speak English this year.

We've never been to the US, and we really want to go to New York.

My daughter wants to see the Statue of Liberty, and I told her (that) we will do it!

We don't live far from Spain, so I'm looking for flights that leave from Barcelona. It's easier than going all the way to Paris.

After watching the video and taking notes, translate the following:

I've been told that Air France flights are better than American Airlines, but I'm not sure about that.

If I find a good deal, I'll take it!

On the other hand, last year we chose Air Canada. Never again! They lost my suitcase and it took me 32 days to get it back!

I had returned home in the beginning of August, and they delivered it to me the day before school started.

This year we are going only with carry-ons. That way there will be less risk of losing them.

After watching the video and taking notes, translate the following:

I'm always the one who plans trips, and I will soon begin to reserve a rental car and hotels.

This time, we will spend four days in New York, and then we absolutely have to go to Washington, DC. I can't wait to see the White House!

We would have gone (there) by plane, but I think rental cars and gas really aren't expensive over there. This will be the best way to take an American style road trip!
