

Starter Project

This course has two GitHub repositories:

Spring API Starter: This is essentially the project we built in the first part of the course, but I've cleaned it up and removed some of the playground code we had. This will be our starting point, so you'll clone this repository and code along with me.

Spring API Finished: This repository contains the full project we'll build by the end of the course. It also has a commit for each lesson, so if you ever get stuck, you can compare your code with the code I write in each lesson.
