

Identify the following as _____ metaphor _____

simile _____

personification _____

alliteration _____

idiom _____

onomatopoeia _____

hyperbole _____

interjection _____

The chocolate cupcake my mom baked was out of this world! _____

Carter was about to explode! He was so excited about winning first prize. _____

My little brother cried like a baby when he lost the game. _____

She sells sea shells by the sea shore. _____

The freshly baked chocolate cookies were calling my name. _____

“Oh rats!” Mrs. Corbett exclaimed as she spilled her coffee. _____

The angry little boy was a lion ready to pounce on its prey. _____

She was as content as a puppy chewing a bone. _____

It is raining cats and dogs! _____

By the time I crossed the finish line, I was dying of thirst. _____

He was as mean as a snake. _____

The cloud was a peaceful mass of floating cotton in the upper atmosphere. _____

“Bang! Bang!” went the firecrackers on the Fourth of July. _____

“No fair!” yelled Katherine as she was outbid at the auction. _____

“Chug! Chug! Chug!” went the little engine as it climbed up the hill. _____

Josh and Jonas juggled, jiggled, jerked, and jammed. _____

The airplane searched through the night sky, looking for the light in the distance. _____

I was about to toss my cookies after I saw the mold grown in Noah's science project. _____

The music flowed peacefully like a river in a quiet mountain valley. _____

I was so embarrassed I was about to die! _____

Identify the following as

metaphor

simile

personification

alliteration

idiom

hyperbole

onomatopoeia

interjection

Answer Key

The chocolate cupcake my mom baked was out of this world! (idiom)

Carter was about to explode! He was so excited about winning first prize. (hyperbole)

My little brother cried like a baby when he lost the game. (simile)

She sells sea shells by the sea shore. (alliteration)

The freshly baked chocolate cookies were calling my name. (personification)

“Oh rats!” Mrs. Corbett exclaimed as she spilled her coffee. (interjection)

The angry little boy was a lion ready to pounce on its prey. (metaphor)

She was as content as a puppy chewing a bone. (simile)

It is raining cats and dogs! (idiom)

By the time I crossed the finish line, I was dying of thirst. (hyperbole)

He was as mean as a snake. (simile)

The cloud was a peaceful mass of floating cotton in the upper atmosphere. (metaphor)

“Bang! Bang!” went the firecrackers on the Fourth of July. (onomatopoeia)

“No fair!” yelled Katherine as she was outbid at the auction. (interjection)

“Chug! Chug! Chug!” went the little engine as it climbed up the hill. (onomatopoeia)

Josh and Jonas juggled, jiggled, jerked, and jammed. (alliteration)

The airplane searched through the night sky, looking for the light in the distance. (personification)

I was about to toss my cookies after I saw the mold grown in Noah's science project. (idiom)

The music flowed peacefully like a river in a quiet mountain valley. (simile)

I was so embarrassed I was about to die! (hyperbole)