

Hi! I'm Daryl. Thank you for caring enough for joining us to be a great psychotherapist and or clinical supervisor. I see myself got into this process of learning so that not only we will be rejuvenated with a renewed sense of passion in your role as a healing professional, but ultimately, helping the people that you serve.

In this course, I'm gonna give you a couple of things.

One, there will be highly practical ways provided to you. To help you reignite the spark in your work whether you are a supervisor or a supervisee, or be it in a private practice or agency setting. I'm gonna provide you with clear, personalised direction that we can develop together, that can lead you in your growth. And of course, translating this to better results.

So, throughout these modules, week by week you'll receive one idea at a time. I'm gonna get you to try out these ideas, to think differently for your role as a supervisor, of what it encompasses...and then go implement, test drive them and see what the results you will find.

And you have to know, I don't come into this work alone. I bring to you the cutting edge scientific research and wisdom of multiple mentors and teachers of mine. Major thinkers and researchers across the world. And besides my private practice in Western Australia, I hold a position in the Institute of Mental Health in Singapore.

And I also consult with various agencies and individuals like you who are hungry to do better work. And this is what I am most excited about.

Because this is a course in psychotherapy, I must explain that I am not dogmatic on any treatment models. But I have to say this, I am doggedly persistent in translating for better outcomes.

If you're interested in challenging the status quo and keen to debunk the myths and the misconceptions in our field, join me in reigniting the clinical supervision and taking your work to the next level.
