Rabbi Ron-Ami Meyers is one of the pioneers of live online Torah learning. Starting in 2008, Rabbi Meyers began tailor-making interactive videoconference classes for a wide array of students, ranging in age from 7 to 70, from Los Angeles to Hong Kong!

Each online Zoom class runs between 45 minutes to an hour, depending the needs of the student. Just click on the link to enroll. Rabbi Meyers will contact you and work alongside you to develop a learning program for you or your child.

What parents and students are saying:

There is the Jewish Spirit (which thankfully we have a healthy dose of at home), there is Jewish Education (which can be dry and disconnected), and then there is Rabbi Meyers who connects the Spirit and Education in an authentic way that is infusing Judaism into the very being of our children that will carry them through life and to their children as well. To find someone who can do that in person is rare--to be successful online is a small miracle and we are so thankful.

- Chaim and Katie W, Overland Park, Kansas

It has been an excellent experience for our teenage daughter learning with Rabbi Meyers twice a week. He keeps her engaged in the learning and she shares at the Shabbat table with enthusiasm. Rabbi Meyers is a master educator and his knowledge of technology allows you to feel like you are learning in the same room.

- B.H, Seattle Washington

We found Rabbi Meyers to be a dynamic, joyful and very effective educator. He has excellent technological skills, and not only had no difficulty navigating the interactive functionality of the videoconferencing platforms...when my daughters were learning I would walk into the room and even found myself drawn to listen and learn, because of his infectious enthusiasm and unique, inquiry-based teaching style.
