qiánfāng de yuèliang hǎo qímiào

前方的月亮好奇妙

The moonlight ahead (in front) is marvelous

hǎishàng de chuán dōu kàn bù zháo

海上的船都看不见

The ships on the sea are all invisible (can't see)

zuótiān de hòuhuǐ wàngjì liǎo

昨天的后悔忘记了

Yesterday's regrets have been forgotten

jīntiān de shì dōu wàngjì liǎo

今天的事都忘记了

Today's problems have all been forgotten

了 is normally pronounced “/e/” at the end of the sentence, but in song lyrics, it's sometimes pronounced “/liao/” to enunciate or stylize the pronunciation.
