EVERYDAY SPANISH, MADE SIMPLE

THE

WORKBOOK

WHY are you learning Spanish. What things will now become possible for you that weren't even options before? When you struggle, get frustrated, or maybe even want to quit.... revisit your WHY. It will keep you grounded and able to hype yourself back up to keep on learning.

Why am I teaching Spanish?

Being bilingual allows me to help others bridge the gap between different cultures in order to foster peace, tolerance and success.

MY COURSE GOALS

WHAT GOALS WILL YOU WORK TOWARDS?

Reflect on your why from the previous exercise.
Write out 3 goals that you'd like to accomplish during this 6 week course.
Write in present tense, as if you are already living these possibilities.

Sample Goals:

*I feel confident when I speak Spanish.
I can have a brief conversation in Spanish.
I can conjugate present tense verbs with ease.*

GOAL 1

GOAL 2

GOAL 3

Prioritize your goals. Decide which one you will work on first.
Take small steps each day that will help you reach that goal.

Ideally, spend 2 weeks to try to reach each goal, keeping in mind, that some goals (complete fluency, for example) will take longer to reach. Others, (conjugating present tense regular verbs) will have a shorter timeline.

MY SCHEDULE

Use this space to write yourself a schedule that allows you to work, have free time, and dedicate time daily to practice Spanish. Use the sample schedule from the video as your guide.
