Color Blend Mode Method: Homework 2 – Transcript

I hope you had a great time making the card in the previous lesson and that you're feeling accomplished. For the second homework assignment, we're going to finish a scrapbook page by recoloring a two part flower that will match it.

There are two files in the downloads you'll need to download, unzip, and open for this homework assignment. The first is this layered quick page dot PSD file. And the second is this flower. Your assignment is to recolor the flower petals using the color blend mode recoloring method so that the flower has the same neon green yellow color as the scrapbook page. Once you have recolored the flower, you can place it on the scrapbook page and then add your finishing touches.

Here is my finished version of the scrapbook page. I added a photo to the clipping mask layer and then I added a title, subtitle, and a date. Completing this assignment will require the same steps we've done in previous lessons. Because of that, I'm not going to show the step by step instructions for that here, but I will include the step by step instructions in the manuals for this lesson just in case you need the extra help.

In the next lesson, we'll go over the details for the third homework assignment. It's the last one for this section of the class, and then we'll move on to alternative recoloring methods. This is Jenifer Juris with make it match.
