

Boundaries eCourse

Taking Ownership While Setting A Boundary Notes

Fill in the Blanks:

Boundaries come into play when someone else [] me for their [].

I need to take [] for what I did and the [] my action may have on the other person.

I can take responsibility for my actions by setting a [] for [], but I cannot make the person stop [] me.

Just because I set a [] doesn't mean the other person is going to pick up their [] or become [] for it.

Aaron Potratz, LPC