

Edit the sentences with dashes. Use your book to check your corrections.

It was not the hysterical light of electricity but what?

My uncle was arrested another time did I tell you? For being a pedestrian.

But she was gone running in the moonlight

People were more often he searched for a simile, found one in his work torches, blazing away until they wiffed out.

“Well next month.”

“What was it always like that?”