This is a right
page. After cutting, line
up the left paper
edge with the hole punch.

The worksheet is a rectangular page with a decorative border consisting of a repeating red and white chevron pattern. The interior of the page is divided into five rectangular sections by red lines. At the top, there are two smaller rectangular sections side-by-side. In the center, there is a single large rectangular section. At the bottom, there are two smaller rectangular sections side-by-side, mirroring the top layout. The sections are intended for handwritten notes or drawings.
