

My name is Art Lader.

I have been a happy high school and middle school teacher for 35 years and I still enjoy it.

In fact, I still love being a teacher.

I find classroom instruction rewarding, of course, but that is not the only key to my happiness. Sponsoring extracurricular activities brings me great pleasure. Often, even more pleasure than classroom instruction.

Sponsoring a high school club can be a lot of fun and it affords you the opportunity to get to know students outside the classroom.

Extracurricular activities can be full of joy and magic for students and for teachers. I have students from over twenty years ago who still talk fondly about trips we took to Germany. They'll never forget their experiences there.

But most teachers are already doing all they can handle. Their days are full and they are stressed by the demands of classroom teaching.

They really are Very Busy Teachers.

They want to connect with their students. They want to get to know them outside the confines of the classroom.

They want some joy. They want some magic.

But taking on more responsibility and giving up more time seems crazy to them.

Their time and their energy are so precious that they are understandably hesitant to take on anything else.

That's where this course comes in.

If you are a Very Busy Teacher who would like to sponsor a cool club without adding tremendous stress to your life, you should take this course.

This course will help you sponsor a club without losing your mind.
