

Rationale:

 The purpose of this resource is for teachers, tutors, school volunteers, and home school parents to have access to a systematic benchmark assessment that gives instructors a very clear picture of each reader's abilities.

 The benchmarks are designed to be used at the beginning of the year, midyear, and at the end of the year. They are intended to be a guide for instructors to aide in providing appropriately leveled resources for the students they teach.

 In order to implement these benchmark assessments with fidelity, the instructor MUST follow the directions exactly.

Here's How to Start:

1. Have students read the first passage aloud. Follow the instructions on what to say before the cold read. Students should not have read the passage before the assessment.
2. As students are reading the passage, take a running record and time them. Afterwards, score their fluency with the rubric and formula provided. Follow the chart to determine their reading fluency percentage.
3. Ask the scripted comprehension questions and score the results. Follow the chart to score their comprehension assessment.
4. Ask students to define the specific vocabulary words and score the results, determining a vocabulary assessment.

 Follow these 4 steps for all three passages for that time of year (beginning, midyear, or end of year).

 Take the median (middle) score as your final determination of the students' reading level range.

That's it!

Thank you so much to these amazing artists, whose work is found in this resource!!

To find the fluency score use this calculation:

Step One: Calculate Words Read Correctly

$$\boxed{\text{Total Words Read}} - \boxed{\text{Errors}} = \boxed{\text{Words Correct}}$$

Step Two: Calculate Words per Minute

$$\boxed{\text{Words Correct}} \div \boxed{\text{Total Words Read}} \times 100 = \text{wpm}$$

Oral Reading Assessment One

Directions before and during reading:

- Say to the student,
 - “You are going to read a short story for me today. I am going to be taking notes as you read. I want you to do your best reading and think carefully about what is happening in the story. After you are finished reading I am going to ask you some questions, so do your best thinking as you are reading.”
- Read the title of the story and a brief introduction.
 - Say, “The story you are going to read is called, ‘I Can Play’”
 - “It is about a boy named [redacted]. He likes to play at his house with his mom and dad. Let’s read the story to find out what kinds of things he likes to play.”
 - “Are you ready to read? This will be fun!”
- Instruct the student to read the passage aloud.

Directions after reading:

- After reading, ask the following questions:
 - “Tell me everything you remember about this story.”
- If the student gives an initial answer, prompt the student by asking...
 - “Can you tell me a little more?”
 - “Can you say a little more about that?”
 - “Tell me more.”
- Write the student’s answers for each comprehension question then score each response.

(no response or incorrect)	(Partial)	(Satisfactory)	(Above Average)

• A Few Reminders:

- After asking each question, wait at least 5 seconds for a response.
- If the student still has no response, repeat the exact question.
- Wait 5 more seconds. If the student has no response try rewording the question.

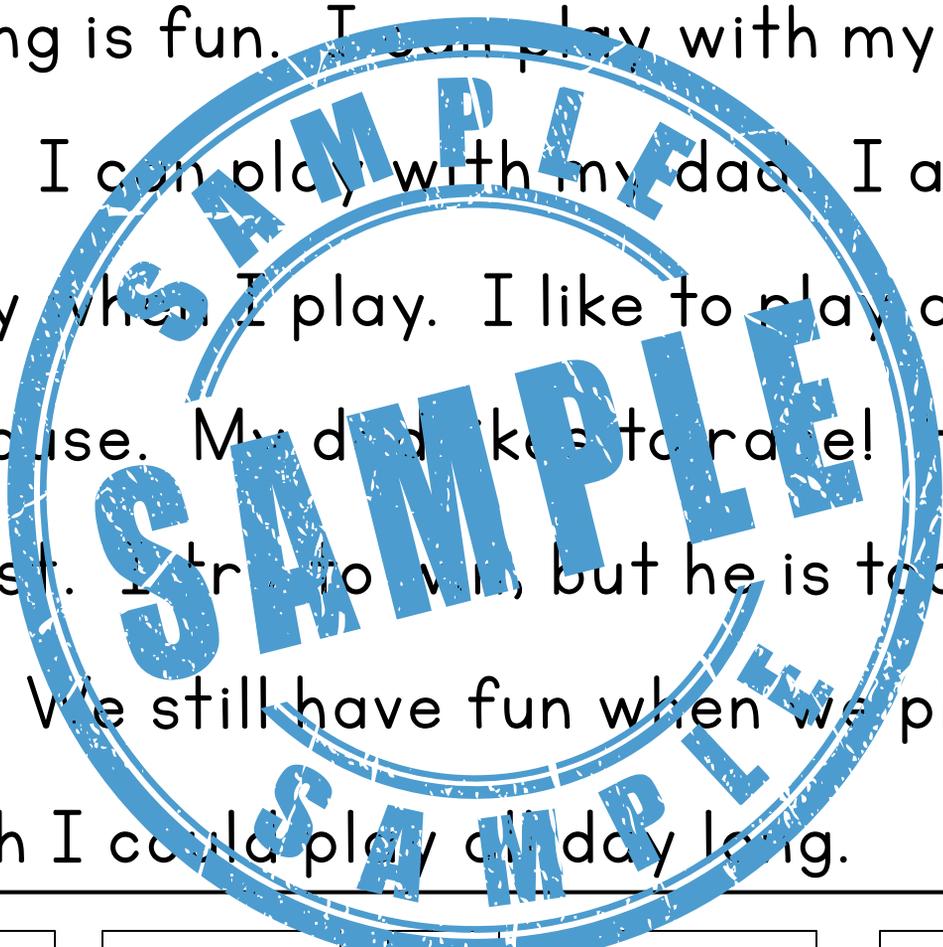

The student should NOT be penalized for the amount of time it takes to answer the questions or because the instructor has to rephrase the questions.
