5 or more inquiries can lead to a denial when applying for credit.

Unauthorized inquiries can be removed from your credit reports quickly and in this guide I'll tell you exactly how you can remove them in less than 24 hours.

First step is to pull a 3 bureau credit report, use the link below:

Next step is to call Experian (714)830-7000 and press option 2, press option 1, press option 2, then option 3.

Tell the rep that you have unauthorized inquiries on your report and they may be fraud related. Let the rep know you have already contacted the creditor and you were advised to contact the credit bureaus.

One they ask which inquiries make sure you have the inquiries in front of you along with the dates they were made.

You can give them as many inquiries as you want but be sure they are not linked to any open accounts.

Lastly the rep will tell you that they will be removed in 24 hours.

If the rep refuses to remove the inquiries hang up and call again to get a different rep.

Once you've called Experian you will repeat these same steps with Transunion and Equifax.
