I dedicate this German workbook to the beautiful country of Germany, my German teacher, my German grandmother and my dog whom I lovingly call Berlin....

HOW TO LEARN GERMAN WITH THE COURSE BOOK?

'German with John Berlin' is a German language workbook that can help any person master the German language incredibly quickly, but also in detail. This book consists of three parts A1, A2 and B1, a booklet with grammar tables and an answer book.

The language of instruction in this book is predominantly English. The logical approach in this book will help you progress step by step from the basics to the intermediate level, in a matter of few weeks!

However, it cannot be stressed enough that you need to learn as many new words and verbs in German as you can while working with this book.

It is also recommended that you work with this book along with recorded lessons from John Berlin at www.germanwithjohnberlin.com. It will further improve your speaking and listening skills and complement this workbook with a hand-in-hand approach!

This workbook contains topic-based exercises, charts, tips, fun facts and structures to help you grasp and enjoy each topic.

You can write in pencil in this book as you can always come back and correct your answers.

This book will help you build a very solid foundation of German grammar, so much so that even native German speakers will be impressed!

So get ready to put in your 32 hours...

GERMAN WITH JOHN BERLIN

JOHN BERLIN - VORSTELLUNG

Mein Name ist John Berlin. Ich bin einen Schriftsteller und einen Deutschlehrer von Beruf. Ich bin dreiunddreißig Jahre alt. Meine Hobbys sind zu unterrichten, Bücher zu schreiben, Boxen zu gucken und zu malen.

Mit dreißig Jahren habe ich mein erstes Buch geschrieben, es heißt 'Code of Dreams'. Ich habe eine kleine Familie und eine Hündin. Ich habe sie, aus der Liebe für Deutschland, Berlin genannt. Ich spiele Fangen mit ihr.

Ich interessiere mich sehr für fremde Sprachen. Ich möchte noch Spanisch und Französisch lernen. Ich habe mich an einem spanischen Sprachinstitut angemeldet. Wahrscheinlich lasse ich Spanisch so gut als Deutsch.

Der spanische Kurs dauert insgesamt sechzehn Wochen. Dannach werde ich die mittlere Stufe erreichen.

Ich habe einen Freund Mark. Er kommt aus Spanien. Er kennt auch ein bisschen Deutsch. Er kann mir beim Spanisch Lernen helfen. Übrigens jetzt muss ich mich auf meine Reise nach Spanien vorbereiten. Ich habe viel anzupacken. Hoffentlich wird alles klappen.

IX. 3 MOST IMPORTANT GRAMMAR TABLES IN GERMAN

These are the 3 fundamental grammar tables in German

Personal Pronouns - I , you , he she it, we , you all , they

Posessive Pronouns - my, your, his, her,its, our , yours, theirs

Artikels - the/ a/ no

German sentences are structured on the basis of Cases. In order to learn these table let's learn the cases first!

X.THE 3 CASES OF THE GERMAN LANGUAGE

A case can be understood as the structure of a sentence as per the verb in which one person does the action, the other person receives the action directly, or indirectly.

There are 3 cases in German which structure all German sentences.

A. NOMINATIV CASE : THE SUBJECT

Nominativ case defines the hero of the sentence. i.e. a person or thing that is doing the action . It is denoted by *who or what a person who does an action

a thing what does an action

Example John visits...

Mark invites...

Sam bakes...

The Computer works

The watch runs

In other words Nominativ is the only subject of the sentence!

B. AKKUSATIV : THE DIRECT OBJECT

Akkusativ is the second hero of the sentence. i.e. a person or thing that is directly receiving the action . It is denoted by whom or what.

a person whom action happens
a thing what receives action

Example

John visits a friend
Mark invites a friend
Sam bakes a cake

In other words Akkusativ is the direct object of the sentence.

C. DATIV: THE INDIRECT OBJECT

Dativ is the 3rd hero of the sentence ie a person who receives the action *through the akkusativ object, indirectly.

a person	to whom	something is given
a person	for whom	something is done

Example

Sam bakes a cake for John

Sam gives a cake to John

iii. Tip dativ is always a person never a thing!

In both the above sentences cake receives the action.

John further receives the cake, thus indirectly receiving the action. Thus it is also known as indirect object.

XI. HOW TO USE THE GERMAN CASES?

To simplify the process of identifying the cases in a sentence, we can straight away use reference questions related to each case

A.Table      *table for reference questions and respective cases

vi.Tip important : Dativ can also be 'from whom'

I. WHAT IS THE RIGHT ORDER OF CASES?

sentences need to be written in right order of cases. Here is the rule

1st.Rule :

- |      |                               |   |                          |   |                          |
|------|-------------------------------|---|--------------------------|---|--------------------------|
| III. | Sentence with both     | : | Pronoun <sup>1st</sup>   | → | Noun <sup>2nd</sup>      |

Example()

The professor<sup>who(m)</sup> explains to the students<sup>to whom(pi)</sup> the sentence<sup>what</sup>

Nouns      Dativ<sup>1st</sup> → Akkusativ<sup>2nd</sup>
Der professor explains den students<sup>to whom</sup> den sentence<sup>what</sup>

Er explains ihn<sup>what</sup> ihnen<sup>to whom</sup>

(He explains it to them)

nouns and pronouns      Pronoun<sup>1st</sup> → Noun<sup>2nd</sup>
Er explains ihnen<sup>pron</sup> the sentence<sup>noun</sup>

I.Exercise Lets replace artikels with pronouns and then put the sentence in right order as mentioned above (Use 1rd Rule and G. Table )

1. The father<sup>who(m)</sup>gives to the son<sup>to whom(m)</sup>the computer<sup>what(m)</sup>

..... father give ..... son ..... computer( 1st Rule, I.)

..... give ..... ( 1st. Rule, II.)

..... give ..... ..... nicht ( 1st Rule, II.)

5. The man<sup>who(m)</sup> gives to the stranger<sup>to whom(m)</sup> help<sup>what</sup>

..... man gives ..... stranger help/ 1st. Rule, I.)

..... gives ..... help/ 1st Rule, III.)

II.Exercise : Find the meaning of these words

Der Bruder	München
Der Vater	Der Garten
Die Mutter	Der Freund
Die Schwester	Das Kino
Der Tier	Das Frühstück
Österreich	Das Mittagessen
Der Koch, die Köchin	Das Abendessen
Das Jahr, die Jahre	Der Park
Die Bank	Das Eis
Der Teich	oft<sup>adv</sup>
Der Name	die Nähe

II. LIST OF COMMON VERBS AND THEIR CASES

Until now we learnt that articles and pronouns are defined according to the German cases. In this part we will see even the verbs are defined with the help of cases.

ii.Fun Fact Nominativ is Latin, for number 1

Akkusativ is Latin, for number 2

Dativ is Latin, for number 3

2nd.Rule Verbs with who<sup>1st</sup>, whom<sup>2nd</sup>

are always Akkusativ with 2 elements

Example: who<sup>1</sup> meets whom<sup>2</sup>: I meet you

treffen
besuchen einladen anrufen hören fragen

to meet to visit to invite
to call to hear
to ask

who* meets *whom
who* visits *whom
who* invites whom who calls *whom
who* hears *whom
who* asks *whom

3rd.Rule Verbs with who<sup>1st</sup>, what<sup>2nd</sup> are Akkusativ

as well, with 2 elements

Example: who makes what: I make a pizza

4th.Rule These verbs can also be made with who<sup>1st</sup>, (for whom<sup>2nd</sup>), what<sup>3rd</sup> and thus become Dativ with 3 elements

Example: who makes for whom what: I make for you a pizza

machen	to do/ to make	who makes ( for whom) what
lesen	to read	who reads (for whom) what
nehmen	to take	who take ( for whom) what
kaufen:	to buy	who buys (for whom) what
reparieren	to repair	who repairs (for whom) what
hochladen	to upload	who upload (for whom) what
essen	to eat	who eats what
mahlen	to paint	who paints (for whom) what
spielen	to play	who plays (for whom) what
verkaufen:	to sell	who sells (for whom) what
installieren	to install	who installs (for whom) what
herunterladen	to download	who downlods (for whom) what
trinken	to drink	who drinks what
zeichnen	to sketch	who sketeches (for whom) what
schreiben	to write	who writes (for whom) what

5th.Rule Verbs with who<sup>1st</sup>, to whom<sup>2nd</sup> and are *AlwaysDativ with 3 elements*Example: who gives TO whom what: I give to you a pizzaI help you:*      I give to you helpI thank you:      I give to you thanks...

geben	to give	who gives to whom what
schenken	to gift	who gifts to whom what
empfehlen	to recommend	who recommends to whom what
sagen	to say	who says to whom what
erzählen	to tell	who tells to whom what
zuhoeren	to listen	who listens to what/ to whom

A. HIDDEN DATIV VERBS WHICH LOOK LIKE AKKUSATIV BUT ARE DATIV!*vii.Tip The verbs listed below are dativ though they might look akkusativ*ExampleI help you.* → who helps whom?I help you → who gives to whom help?

helfen	to give	who gives to whom help
danken	to give	who gives to whom thanks
gratulieren	to give	who gives to whom congrats
erlauben	to give	who gives to whom permission
gefallen	to be liked	what is liked from whom
schmecken	to be liked	what is liked from whom (food)

6th.Rule : when subject and object are same such verbs with who<sup>1st</sup>, what<sup>1st</sup> are always Nominativ with just 1 elem ent

heissen	to be called	who is called what werden	to become	who becomes what sein:	to be	who is what
bleiben	to remain	who remains what

The above mentioned verbs are the only 4 Nominativ verbs in German

- 1. who is called what
- 2. who becomes what:
- 3. who is what:
- 4. who remains what

I am called John Berlin
I become a writer
I am a writer
I remain a writer

viii.Tip

In the above sentences if you notice the subject and object are always the same :

I and John Berlin is the same person
I and writer is the same person

III.Exercise Place the above mentioned verbs in the H.Table below as per the 4th - 7th Rule

H.Table      Verbs and their respective cases

NOMINATIV	AKKUSATIV	DATIV
1 Who?	2 whom?	3 to whom?
What?	What?	for whom?
		from whom?

ix.Tip The above table (Table H) will help you understand all kinds of verbs in German in the future. Use this table to understand verbs for all future references.
