Having been with KASS for over six years, Nurwalfa Izin or Faizin plays a key role in the supervision of the trademark team at KASS, providing constructive feedback for the development of guides, systems and templates to continuously improve the team's workflow.

Her work includes handling an international portfolio of searches, registration and prosecution of trademarks and industrial designs as well as dealing with issues relating to trademark registrability and objections, while also providing advice on copyright matters.

Currently pursuing her law degree, Faizin experienced the inner workings of various industries prior to joining KASS, giving her a well-rounded perspective of the local business landscape, which in turn lends itself perfectly to the KASS approach of looking at IP from a business angle.
