

Caffyn's Intro video transcript
Intimacy Educator Program

Thank you for your interest in the Intimacy educator program. I began teaching this program more than 10 years ago, because I was asked: "Can you teach me to do what you do?"

I work as a sacred intimate, offering erotic rituals and sexual bodywork for my daily bread. I work openly, and joyfully, engaging with others souls as I touch their skins. In my work, I witness so much transformation, healing and expansion into erotic well-being. I've seen so many lives change, as people unwind the grip of sexual trauma. They feel invited to drop their allegiance to a traumatic culture, so they can expand into the truth of who they want to be, and how they want to love and be loved.

I have been thrilled to share the exercises, understandings and approaches that support me, in my practice. This program represents my life's work. It is ever-evolving, as I continue to learn.

I've met my life's dearest friends and lovers through this program. It has always attracted magnificent souls, from around the world. I've integrated my students' wisdom and learning, into my teaching. I look forward to meeting you.

Teaching the Intimacy Educator program has led to many opportunities, including work at the Institute for the Study of Somatic Sex Education. I was a founding partner there. I taught somatic sex education and sexological bodywork, for many years. This course is a pre-approved elective, if you are studying there. It will introduce you to the field's basic principles and practices, and support you with resources for a professional practice.

But this training is distinct from somatic sex education, inasmuch as the focus of this 2-month program is on sacred intimacy. The erotic is our holy well, our inmost core. How do we share erotic touch in ways that support resonant connection, within and between us? Instead of a training unfolding over years, costing many thousands of dollars, this simple program can be completed in two months. On completing it, you'll have experience, plus a template and toolkit, to resource you in offering erotic touch as a sacred intimate – with clients and friends. You'll feel invited to keep joyfully traveling on a path of ongoing learning. Many students of this program continued their studies, eventually becoming certified sexological bodyworkers and somatic sex educators – learning while already working in the field of sacred intimacy.

It can be hard to learn online – and perhaps it is especially hard to learn the art and science of erotic touch. Yet there is magic here. I don't have the energy now, to travel and teach many 6-day workshops. But I can meet you online, and share my life's work with you. I can support you finding people in your own home town, who can journey into sacred intimacy with you. It's a whole lot cheaper, and easier on the planet. And there are many ways we can do this program together. You can the program alone with me, as a guided self-study. You can do it with a friend. You can do it with a professional, or as a professional. I hope you'll want to do it again and again.

I offer many resources in each module. Use your pleasure to orient to the materials, and select the ones that are right for you. What exercises and resources light you up? What do you want to save for another day? There are resources for different learning styles, including discussion videos, demonstration videos, and written materials.

To support your learning, I offer 1-1 connection in each module through email. I host a zoom meeting twice a month. And I offer to connect students who want a study buddy with one another.

So once you have reviewed the materials in Module 1, please reach out and introduce yourself to me. I can't wait to meet you!

© Caffyn Jesse