“15 Reasons to Praise” Syllabus

Course Description:

"15 Reasons to Praise" is a mini-course on why we praise and worship God. This mini-course will allow you to learn more about what we have to offer while taking a self-paced, fully online course that fits your schedule. We hope you are blessed by the material in this course, and that it inspires you to deeper levels of intimacy with your Creator.

Required Materials:

- Bible
- Journal
- Internet connection capable of supporting streaming video

Expected Time Commitment:

- 15-20 minutes per lesson

What to Expect:

A typical lesson will consist of about ten minutes of pre-recorded video teaching so that you can tailor viewing to your schedule. The course has a companion study guide with Bible references to assist you in note-taking and further study. The course system will also allow you to watch lessons more than once, so you may go back over material that the Lord is specifically highlighting to your Spirit.

School Policies:

We are committed to cultivating a culture that celebrates originality and individual expression in worship. Offering online courses allows us to increase our impact exponentially beyond what we can offer in a weekend conference or other public event. However, in an online-only setting we are unable to offer pastoral counsel to students. The best place to receive this kind of care is within the context of a local church body.

Our hope is that many of you will connect deeply with the material offered in this course, and we realize that a natural outcome of deep connection is the desire to share that connection with others. We respectfully request that you keep in mind the significant investment of time and resources we have put into making this material available, and that your honor both our investment and your own by not sharing your login credentials or specific course materials without permission of the instructor.
