Jayne MacCullough is the founder of Pathway to Liberty. She is the author of The Chain of Liberty, Do men have a right to think for themselves? She has developed a comprehensive, principle-based history curriculum which is for students of all ages.

As the homeschool mom of five sons, Pathway to Liberty developed because Jayme felt that the homeschool curriculums she had been using did not communicate the rich heritage we have as Christians and as Americans.

She wanted them to have more; strong character, a Biblical worldview, an understanding of history and an the foundations of our nation. Simply stated, she wants them to live free; first within their souls, and next, to maintain and advance liberty in their spheres of influence.

What Families are Saying About

"If I could give this awesome curriculum ten stars, I totally would."

Cassandra Simpson @<http://myblessedmessblog.com>

"I do believe it is lighting a fire within all of my children for understanding and seeking to know the way we have been and the way we should go. History should inspire and excite us. We should see these men and women, these life changing events, as a part of our own story."

Jennifer King @<https://worthabowedhead.wordpress.com/>

"These type of courses are fundamental for our children to be educated on so we have hope in returning to the country our Christian Forefathers had planned."

Judy Joyce @<http://www.healthbeautychildrenandfamily.com/>

"Ultimately, I feel that this program offers a rich and unique biblical learning experience and I'd recommend it to families looking for a history curriculum with a biblical worldview."

Alexandra Kulick, @Humor, Homeschool & Healthier Living <https://www.alexandrakulick.com/blog>

"I liked the way the questions for each section asked him to think about his response. They not only asked about simple facts they also had him thinking about what things meant or would mean to him in today's world."
