

Purpose Statements

Purpose statements identify your what and your why and should be something that you would experience regret over if you did not pursue it. To that extent, they serve as an additional motivator to get busy creating short and long term goals.

Here is one format you can use to craft a purpose statement:

"I can see myself _____(taking this action)_____ for _____(this person(s) or place)_____ because _____(to achieve this result)_____."

Example: " I can see myself becoming a music teacher for inner city students because I would love to see them learn to use music as an outlet for expression like I have.
