Full Class Activity:

- Make rice krispies!! Display the power point if needed to move to the next step for the cooking lesson.

Independent Working Time:

- Matching activity
- Writing picture prompt
- Sequencing activity, remind students to remember what they did when they were making the rice krispies.

Wrap up/Closing:

- Review what they made and how. Remind them how important cooking is for their independence and that you will continue working on meals and snacks they can prepare for themselves!

Other Ideas for Activities:

- Take pictures of the students doing each step and make a book of themselves making rice krispies(also sequencing activity). They can write what they did on each page as a story and take it home for parents to see. It's so much more meaningful when they see pictures of themselves doing/participating in activities.

- Assemble all the working recipes you have use (or will use) into a classroom cookbook. You can print one page recipes (copy and paste from power point if needed). Have one accessible for each student to look at if needed during the lesson. When you look a recipe again (which you most definitely should!), students can find the recipe themselves and help you get ingredients to cook. Sometimes they even memorize some of the easier ones and are able to make them independently!
