

Lesson 5

Hello everyone, this is Alexey Borealis

We continue to explore techniques for predicting future events

In most cases, an event is a contact between two objects in real life

- Will I get this job? An event is a meeting between the querent and prospective work
- Will she conceive a child? An event of conception is a meeting between a mother and her child

The exact aspect between significators shows the meeting of two objects

Therefore, direct and indirect aspects are what we use in this case

Remember, for an aspect to produce an event, we need a potential for this event - the main character's motive and the power to act

Often, an event is a change in the current state of an object or its attitude

For example, with regard to the question "will I keep my job?", we are interested in how exactly the professional status (the 10th house ruler condition) will change over time

If it stays unchanged, then the current position will remain

In the question "how the disease will develop over time," we need to compare the future bodily condition with the current one

It can remain the same, improve, or worsen

Will he keep his feelings for me? We must compare the future feelings of the man with the current ones

They may stay the same, become brighter, or go out

The significator's current position in the sign shows the object's current state or its present motives

The significator should leave the sign in the next 3-4 degrees to produce a change in attitude or condition

The moment when a planet leaves one sign and enters another is called ingression

Technically speaking, we need to examine whether there is ingress in the next 3-4 degrees

Sometimes, the significator's position in the corresponding house means an object's location in a specific place

Therefore, leaving or entering the relevant house in the next 3-4 degrees will show a change of location

There are situations when we do not need to compare the future state or attitude with the current ones

For example, you ask whether the used car you want to buy will be in good condition

You are not interested in how the condition will change over time

You are interested in the state of the car at the time of purchase

You do not need to move the lord of the 2nd house in few degrees or find its next aspect

Just look at the current state of the lord

Its essential dignity will show the future state of the car

How will my boss react if I ask him for a bonus? We are interested in the boss's reaction at a specific point in time

We do not move the boss's significator but immediately look at his reception

Will I be safe in my new place? We are interested in the overall safety after querent's move to the new location

We do not need to investigate the dynamics of his safety over time

We look at the accidental strengthening of the significator in the current sign as if it were showing the future circumstances

Another example

In the question "will he return?", the significator of boyfriend is retrograde

He is going back

We were initially supposed to find an aspect between the querent and her boyfriend

But the chart answers by showing the state of the boyfriend's planet

It shows him retrograde, moving backward, as it were a picture of future circumstances

In this method, we consider the significator's current position as if we were looking at a snapshot of the future moment

If we see what we expect, then we prove the future circumstances

You can effectively compare the third method with observing a photo, where the planets stay where they are, while the first two methods are similar to watching a movie, in which the planets move forward or backward in time, showing a sequence of future or past events

Let's take a look at some examples

In the question "will he agree to sell the house if I offer him this price?", we are interested in the seller's motive at the moment of the proposal

We will look at the chart as a snapshot of the future

Suppose the querent is Mercury and the seller is Jupiter

Jupiter is in Gemini

He adores Mercury by the reception and wants to make a deal

However, since this is a snapshot of the future, we say the seller will agree when the querent gives his price

We've almost reached a deal

In general, the seller does not mind my offer

But I'm worried whether the seller might change his mind

In this case, I have to compare his current motives with future ones

Changing his mind is a change in his reception

We have to see if the seller's significator leaves the current sign and breaks present receptions

Suppose the querent is Mercury and the seller is Jupiter in Scorpio

Currently, the seller is neutral towards the querent by the reception

He has no apparent objections to the deal

But, suppose after 2

5 degrees, Jupiter leaves Scorpio and enters Sagittarius, where he will hate the querent

Lesson 5

Yes, the seller will change his mind

Next example

Will I buy this house? The querent has not yet entered into negotiations with the seller

He probably does not even know his name

But, we are interested whether future deal takes place and bring results

We must see that the querent will at least meet the seller in the future to have negotiations

Therefore, we need an applying aspect

We also need to make sure the seller will want to deal with the querent

That is, we need to see the potential for the aspect

Suppose the querent is Mercury and the seller is Jupiter in Pisces

Mercury performs a direct aspect with Jupiter

The two characters will meet to negotiate the terms

There is an opportunity for sale

But, since Jupiter in Pisces does not like Mercury by the reception, there is no sale potential

Although the aspect provides an opportunity, it is not realized because the seller will not like the buyer

Now you have a complete understanding of how to forecast future events

In the next lesson we will practice with these techniques and take a look at a real-life example
