Dominika Syczynska

Dominika Syczynska is a contemporary womenswear designer and a Fabric and Fashion Design Masterclass teacher.

Dominika plays in her designs with clashing aesthetics and mixes innovative and traditional textile design technologies. All her garments are created with an impassioned attention to detail and great appreciation for craftsmanship. Opulent 3D shapes, structures and textures are her signature designs.

She studied Fashion Design in Poland and at Central Saint Martins College of Arts and Design in London. After graduation she has worked as a textile and embroidery designer for various fashion labels in the UK. In 2016 she has launched her brand and since that she has produced critically acclaimed collections with a focus on innovative textile design and craftsmanship.

She dressed THE VOICE America contestants, designed costumes for movies and her works were published in fashion magazines, including VOGUE UK, Glamour and Elle. She is the 1st Prize winner of Fashion Designer Awards, Project Runway Poland designer & finalist of various fashion design competitions.

She is teaching fabric design and manipulation techniques in various schools.
