SCHEDULE

STAR THEME: Brushes and tools

Week 1

5/1/2024

Kasia Avery

Intro to Star Theme +
Wanderlust Book

Join the course host as she introduces you to the Star Theme through an easy to follow art journaling tutorial. Create a spread exploring different tools and techniques and exploring a self developmental prompt. A strong favourite among our Adventurers from the last 7 years, Wanderlust Book lesson is sure to give you plenty of ideas and help you express your feelings through art.

Week 2

12/1/2024

Nicole Warrington

Embracing curiosity: memories captured with abstract brushstrokes

Exploring tide pools as a child, and now with my girls, is one of my favourite nature activities. For this lesson we will embrace a child-like curiosity as we explore the wonderful marks different brushes can make. Inspired by West Coast tidal pools, we will create a beautiful page filled with abstract and recognizable imagery.

Week 3

19/1/2024

Iris Fritschi-Cussens

Knives Out, Meaning In - exploring palette knives, texture & letting go of perfection

Palette knives are a great tool to create texture and let go of perfection. We will work quickly and embrace grunge and imperfection. We'll start by building up some background layers. Then we will create a face, and with the same loose and carefree attitude we will paint it using only our palette knives. We will try and embrace the essence of what we are painting, rather than striving for accuracy. Different ideas and options will be presented for a range of skill/confidence levels. Throughout this process we will be connecting with our thoughts and feelings around what we want to call into our life for this coming year. We will incorporate these whispers and wishes into the layers of our art journal spread.

STAR THEME: Brushes and tools (Continued)

Week 4

26/1/2024

Leaca Young

Silicone tool explorations: create collage and be in the moment

Create layers without thinking about the end goal - just be here now. So many times we set out to create with a focus on the end goal. In this lesson we are going to embrace the textures and beauty by focusing on one layer at a time. We will create collage papers using different silicone brushes. Pulling in some stencils and finally creating a collage piece in our journals that showcases the beautiful textures we created.

Week 5

2/2/2024

Francisca Nunes

Exploring nature lines and marks with sponges.

Nature has an endless catalog of lines, shapes and marks where we can go to find inspiration for our art. Using sponges we will create brushes and mark-making tools to explore lines from trees, rocks, and the landscape. We'll use these natural studies to inspire our journal spread.

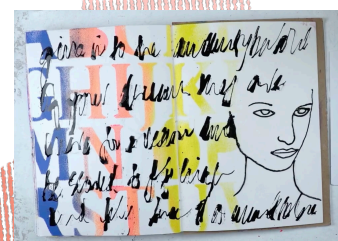

Week 6

9/2/2024

Tania Ahmed

The finer details

Learn how to incorporate linear art into your art journal practice. A Needle point applicator can be used as a mark making tool as well as a drawing tool to enhance your art journal and take them to the next level. See how this unsung hero can become a must have in your mixed media arsenal!

Week 7

16/2/2024

Marta Lapkowska

Hidden potential: Creating dimension with forgotten supplies

Breathe, let go and make some art... it's when we play that magic happens. Texture, details and low cost materials will play the main role in our creative process. We will focus on creating a dimensional feel to our page by playing with shading and colouring. There is no right or wrong, there is no better or worse... there is only the freedom of art journaling. Together we will learn to collage and explore hidden potential between the layers in our journal book. Let's tell the story through paper and scissors. We will get our forgotten paper punches out. Sometimes it's the basic supplies that will speak volumes. What will we discover beneath the layers? Join my class to find out!

ARTFUL MUSINGS

Week 8	23/2/2024	Claudette Hasenjager	You are your own home. Raising self-awareness through art.
--------	-----------	----------------------	--

Do you sometimes feel like you’re not completely present? Is your mind running a thought marathon? One moment you’re thinking about what to prepare for supper, the next you’re running through your work to do list, and then suddenly, something else pops up in your mind. Before you know it, your mind feels like a gazillion people stuck in a bus shouting and gasping for air - all at the same time. Mindfully creating journal spreads helps you dig deeper into who you are and what you need more, or less, of in your life. Art journaling, layering, doodling and creating gives you the opportunity to have some time alone to nourish your soul. You need this - We all do! Nurturing this self-care habit truly can be life changing.

Week 20	17/5/2024	Froyle Davies	Discover the Secrets of You
In this class, we are celebrating your personal expression by creating an art journal page made up of your best secrets! They can be as simple or complex as you desire and of course, you don't actually have to tell anyone what they are! First, we will start by writing our secrets on paper, it can be in handwriting, scribble, short hand, typed or even in another language. It doesn't have to be scandalous, it can simply be things you would like to accomplish, or places you would like to go. Dreams that you have. What would you like to do if time and money had no limit? Then we will create the art journal page based on 3 questions - What is your favourite colour? Your favourite shape? Your favourite number? This will help you to create your page with things that you love. We will add the secret text to the page to complete the composition.

Week 21	24/5/2024	Francisca Nunes	The stories of seasons
All seasons have their beauty and their uniqueness. Playing with images, sounds, smells, colors, quick sketches, let's bring to our journal our favourite Season. What memories bings to us and what storie can we tell about our season in life.

Week 22	31/5/2024	Emily McBride	Clear Your Mind. The hidden magic of list writing for art journals
There's no better way to bring some structure to the chaos of life than making lists. Although many people focus on tasks lists as a form of productivity, lists can be much more than that. In this class we will talk about art of list-making, ideas for different lists you can make, and together we will create a functional yet aesthetic list of books to read.

Week 23	7/6/2024	Helen Colebrook	Brushlettering and love letters
Fill one page in response to some guided questions. We will cover this with gesso and then play with brush pens to create something beautiful on top. On the opposite page we will write a love letter to ourselves by offering ourselves some kindness. This page will be completed by using brush lettering, including a step by step process on how to create thick and thin strokes, along with the process for creating letters and words.
