

SEND THIS FILE

If you are only RECEIVING files from someone through SendThisFile, you don't have to register or do anything except click and download the file sent to you.

But if you want to SEND files, you might wonder how to get the "free forever" plan - not so easy to find by just going to their website because, of course, they want you to do a free trial and then sell it to you.

The "free forever" plan is perfectly fine, but it has a few limitations, including:

| |
|--|
| The transfer speed might be slower. |
| Each of your files is only stored on their server for three days, so your recipient needs to grab the file within three days or they will be met with an "expired" link. If so, you will have to do it all over again. |
| File sizes are limited. |
| The three downloads allowed means that each file stored can only be downloaded a maximum of three times. |
| You can't embed their box on your website for clients to send files to you directly from your website. |

Hopefully, they will keep the 100% free plan because it's an excellent way to send files back and forth that you don't need to store. Here's the link to register for their "free forever" plan.

Go ahead and watch the video below and then proceed to the next lecture!