

I am real

Yes, I am real, and I am here for you. I am ready to help you and I won't leave you in the dark.

This course is challenging, no question about it, but if you really struggle, make sure to let me know and I will help you.

I usually react the same day, the next day at worst. I will take my time to discuss your issues with you and we will find a solution together.

Don't run away as soon as you hit your first problem you won't be able to solve on your own. Mistakes are the most precious things in the learning process. Make them and learn from them.

Especially the second part of this course, building your own web application might seem to be too fast, but rest assured that this is by design. Will your head spin? Good! Will you feel lost and confused? Even better! That's all the part of the process. Stick with the course and you will realize how it all fits together.

At the end of the course, you should be able to formulate not one, but many improvements and new features of Talker. How about avatars for users? How about uploading images to posts? How about allowing links?

Why isn't it already implemented? Because I want you to have the opportunity to figure this out your own way!

I deliberately stopped with the bare minimum to give you something you can build upon your own solution, your own flavor of this application.

But I am still here, so even if you feel lost, I will take you back to the right track so you can keep pushing forward.
