Dr Cheever briefs CDC personnel on the outbreak of cases of the worldwide virus. The numbers of infected people have reached 80,000+ and the CDC is predicting it could reach as high as 267,000.

Meanwhile, Dr Orantes, from the World Health Organization (WHO), travels to Hong Kong to retrace Beth's steps and try to find out who she might have come in contact with while there. Dr Orantes' liaison is Sun Feng. Sun Feng is ambivalent and not sure that Hong Kong is the focal point of the viral outbreak. Dr Orantes is convinced that Beth started it all. They interview several workers at a casino and learn that several of their coworkers became ill soon after Beth was there. Dr Orantes tells Feng to get tapes of the security footage showing when Beth arrived and left and find every person that she came in contact with. Feng mentions that many people in his rural village where he grew up are infected with a virus and his own mother is very sick.

Dr Hextall briefs Dr Cheever on the current findings. A stable culture of the virus was obtained by growing it in a particular bat cell line. Now that they know what they are up against, they can begin developing and testing vaccines to prevent the spread of the virus.
