Welcome to My Book Mentoring Course!

I am delighted to share this mentoring course with you and trust it will set you on the road to creating, publishing and marketing many books in the years to come.

Over the next few modules, I will share tips, techniques and information that are not easily come by. I have a vast knowledge and experience of internet publishing and really want to help you become a globally published author.

All these modules are available to you in the membership site and you may access them at any time. This means you may work at your own place.

The lessons will be short and to the point so you won't suffer from Information Overload. From time to time extra bonus material will be included as well. Each module will tackle a specific task and a checklist will be provided to help you focus.

At times you may find the pace a little hectic because "life happens!" Do not become stressed. Download and save the modules in your computer and work through them at your own pace.

Soon you will find yourself in the exciting position of being a published author. May your voice be heard clearly as you share publications that will educate, inspire, motivate, interest, and entertain people all over the world.
