

- [Instructor] Hi, my name is Justin Putney. I am the creator of in5.

In this course, I'm going to show you how to create a non-linear navigation.

The document we'll be working with is set up to be a technical reference to provide instructions specific to a user's operating system and their web browser.

But the techniques that we'll cover can also be used for other non-linear documents, such as a choose-your-own adventure story.

With these simple techniques, you'll have the power to create user-friendly experiences with InDesign. So let's jump in and get started creating non-linear navigation.
