Let's Paint Flowers! www.letspaintflowers

Annie O’Brien Gonzales

PAINTING STEP BY STEP: THE 7 STEP METHOD

BEFORE STARTING A PAINTING:

- choose subject matter-still life setup or photos
- pick a format-horizontal, vertical, square
- select a surface-board, canvas panel, canvas
- choose size of the surface
- decide on color scheme-monochromatic, analogous, complementary and make a color palette swatch

SET UP TO PAINT

- Find a spot to paint-a flat table or easel with space on your dominant side to place materials.
- Lay out materials including: painting surface, paints, disposable palette sheet or piece of parchment paper taped to the table, water, brushes, paper towels or rags, painting medium.

7 STEP PAINTING PROCESS

1. UNDERPAINT-eliminate white surface with thin transparent loosely painted color.
2. DRAW MAP-Rapidly sketch a map of the design using underpainting color or soft pastel. [Do not stress over this-you are just placing the image on the surface NOT drawing it.]
3. BLOCK IN-Using the darkest versions of your chosen color palette fill in 5-7 major shapes loosely with paint. Next, block in lighter shapes by using a slightly darker version of your light color.
4. MORE PAINT, MORE VARIATIONS-Apply thicker variations of color and value on to shapes-this is where things get interesting! Mix value and color variations to layer onto shapes paying attention to dark/light, warm/cool relationships of adjoining shapes.
5. ANALYZE-Step back, grab a cup of something and really LOOK at your painting. Stand back and analyze value differences. Dramatize focal areas with pops of color or value shifts. Now FIX & ADJUST THINGS-fix the thing bothering you the most FIRST!
6. ADD "JEWELRY" - Add Just enough detail or pattern to add to the drama & resist the urge to keep "tidying" things up.

> WORDS TO PAINT BY
> think process not product
> dark to light
> thin to thick
> big shapes to detail make everything different-shapes, spaces, values fix the one thing bothering you the most first

